Last Sunday, our school had its first music competition. Twenty students sang, danced and played instruments in front of a big audience. First, a girl called Huda sang an old Omani song, and everyone listened quietly because her voice was so sweet. Then Badr and his band played the drums so loudly that the little children jumped! After that, two boys showed amazing magic tricks. At the end, the head teacher gave medals to the three winners. Huda won first prize. She smiled and thanked her music teacher. All the families clapped and took photos. It was a wonderful day.
